With a strong command of English, Afrikaans, and French language, I am adept at effective communication and can easily collaborate with individuals from diverse backgrounds. I have a comprehensive understanding of various programming concepts, which enable me to develop robust and efficient software solutions. I am currently actively engaged in an Integrated Learning project that involves creating an app and website for Scouts South Africa. By utilizing ASP.NET Core MVC and Entity Framework Core, I am gaining valuable experience in developing scalable and user-friendly applications. This project showcases my ability to work with real-world requirements, apply industry-standard frameworks, and deliver results within set timelines. This project also allows me to give back to the Scouting movement which has played an important role in my life.
